Why a young workers group?

Being a Christian can be tough- especially in environments where Jesus Christ is not acknowledged as Lord.

We are called to be Christ's ambassadors, representing our Lord wherever we may be. For most of us, the majority of our time is spent in the workplace.

Working in healthcare presents its own unique set of challenges as we constantly seek to serve those who are sick, injured and in pain. In many cases, death is a reality we face on a daily basis.

We have a hope for the future; the hope of eternal life because of what Christ alone has done for us. It is our desire that our words, actions and interactions with others would demonstrate this hope and that we would take every opportunity to share the good news as the Lord graciously provides.

The Bible is clear that as the body of Christ we should encourage, strengthen and build one another up in the Lord.

The Young workers group of Healthcare Christian Fellowship Australia is designed to do just that- provide a network of support and encouragement in the body of Christ for each person as they seek to serve the Lord with everything they have until His return.
